The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Freeways; Safe or Profitable?

It is a joy to learn how well the freeway people are taking care of the taxpaying motorists. We are reminded of this regularly by the organization California Freeway Support Committee.

A few days ago, in a CFSC fact sheet, it was shown that an average acre of freeway accommodates 600,000 vehicle miles a year while an acre used as any other kind of road handles less than 70,000 vehicle miles. It was also shown that engineers are making sure that California's freeways complement their environment. In open country, CFSC said, slopes adjacent to freeways are roughened with studied carelessness to blend with the natural ground.

Bridges and interchanges are designed to take advantage of optical illusions to present a pleasing appearance. Landscaping is planned during conception of a freeway project and is not used simply as a final covering up device.

The goal, says CFSC, is to achieve for the person who uses the freeway, a senation like: "I feel safe on this highway. There is plenty of room . . . it's not a strange gash across the country . . . I would rather travel this way than on several other routes I can think of."

"Not so," answers Editor William Bronson of "Cry California", a quarterly journal published by California Tomorrow, a statewide organization.

"Powerful freeway promoters are using misleading and false information to create a freeway 'safe driving myth'," he said.

"The California Freeway Support Committee claim that a California freeway — particularly a big city freeway — is the safest place you can drive is a damned lie," he said.

He said that the facts are that instead of being safer, the state's freeways are in reality unsafer than all other California streets and roads.

He said that for any given time period spent on a freeway, the occupant of a motor vehicle is twice as likely to get killed as he is on other streets and highways. He said the Freeway Establishment can use safety as a propaganda weapon only because the congestion on urban freeways at peak traffic hours reduces speeds to 20 or 30 miles an hour, thereby reducing high speed hazards.

Bronson cited the ominous fact that the ever-growing proportion of trucks in freeway traffic is a further safety hazard. He said that commercial vehicles are involved in about twice as many accidents as the general population in relation to their numbers.

He said if the Freeway Establishment is really concerned about safety it would push hard for lower speed limits and a statewide, multi-mode transportation system.

He identified the Freeway Establishment as truckers, auto clubs, oil companies, auto manfacturers, construction interests and others.

In a parallel complaint, Readers Digest takes a whack at the Freeway Establishment, too.

In an article about the lobby for the Freeway Establishment RD says it is a "politically awesome force. The gigantic alliance includes all who promote highways for profit: producers of gasoline auto makers, trucking companies, construction unions, road builders, billboard firms."

They're in it for the money, to be sure. Various levels of government have built 3,700,000 miles of roads, enough for a 15-lane expressway from here to the moon. Some $32,000 a minute is spent, or nearly $17 billions a year — and they'll keep the pressure up as the money stays available, RD reports.

Some of the major determinations of the lobby are:

1. Increase the weight and size limits for trucks traveling over the U. S. Interstate Highway System.

2. Control over the California State Legislature to ensure the continued flow of tax money into freeway construction and to continue to block good urban transit in the state.

3. Perpetuation of Bills such as the Highway Act of 1968 whereby a $12.3 billion grab-bag of goodies was channeled to the highway builders while it emasculated the highway-beautification program. The latter had the blessing of the billboard and roadside business interests.

For those who care, the cost of roadbuilding (Interstate Highways, for example) is now $1.4 million a mile.

Something For the Kids

By Max Goodwin

We musn't allow ourselves the pleasure of equating Tuesday's tax ceiling election to the campus riots.

Since they both come under "education", it is easy to reject elementary school needs because of what some big lummoxes are doing on college campuses.

To the point are the 4,128 youngsters in the Lemon Grove schools. They have never rioted. They have not become involved in a sit in — or a fire in. They don't even know what these things are about.

So we plead for understanding in Tuesday's election and urge that you avert thinking in terms of colleges.

The other concern is the tax cost. This is a very real consideration. However, the total increase could cost no more than $32 a year — and probably it would be a lot less — depending on how much of the funds state and federal agencies restore.

One of the reasons for the need for additional tax is legislature's attempt to soft-soap taxpayers. That is why property-owners are getting $70 refunded to them this year. It shows legislature's concern for the heavily burdened homeowner. But all they are doing is taking it out of one of your pockets and letting you drop it in the other because the cost of government hasn't been cut. This fact erupted in the financial need of your schools and Tuesday's tax election. But for the refund, the tax ceiling election might not have been required.

The kids have no one to speak for them. They may not even know that they are being shorted — until they reach maturity.

On behalf of more than 4,000 kids — and your conscience, you should vote "yes" Tuesday.

County Budget Scaled Down to $200 Millions

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A final budget of $206,220,718 was studied by the County Board of Supervisors Monday.

The new figure was down $1,550,746 from the proposed budget.

The board sat in budget sessions all this week and should make the final decisions tomorrow.

Chief Adm. Officer Fred Morey still would not predict a tax rate, but said the picture looks better than at the time of the proposed budget. He said that too many unknown factors prevent an accurate prediction.

The present county tax rate is $2.37 per $100 of assessed valuation and it appears that the rate will have to be increased. Morey predicts that the increase will not be significant.

One of the items chopped out of the budget by the chief officer was $390,000 for a chapel-auditorium for Edgemoor Hospital in Santee.

Morey said the building is desirable, but not critical.

Another $470,000 in reduction was gained by the often followed practice of authorizing new positions, but not filling them until the fiscal year is half over.

L.G. Marijuana Major Supplier Jailed For Year

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A Lemon Grove man described as a major supplier of marijuana in the El Cajon area has been ordered to county jail for one year by Superior Court Judge Howard B. Turrentine.

Glen Nelson, 24, 3187 Citrus, pleaded guilty on March 18 to sale of marjiuana and was sent to state prison for a 90-day diagnostic study without being sentenced by Judge Turrentine.

The recommendation of prison authorities for the long term confinment was followed by the judge.

Nelson has been accused of four counts of sale of marijuana after an undercover investigation in December and February. The sales, according to the probation report, were for large amounts, the last being 50 kilos for $3,500 to a state narcotics agent.

Details Lacking On Burn Ban In County

SAN DIEGA (CNA) — With the outdoor burning of trash scheduled to be banned throughout the county on July 1, the county health department is still working on details of enforcement.

Fifth District Supervisor Robert Cozens still hopes to have less strict rules in North County.

Second District Supervisor Henry A. Boney still wants to talk about banning burning of construction debris so that the law of the county's air pollution contril district will be similar to El Cajon's.

Assistant Health Director Donald G. Ramras said his department is working with city fire departments and with fire district on means of enforcement and issuance of burning permit in cases where burning is permitted.

Board members have begun to receive critical letters like this one from Arthur S. Hill of Rancho Santa Fe.

Hill said the ban on trash burning will be widely ignored or cause great accumulations of trash and brush piles on property where the owner does not want to truck the material to the dump.

The rules will go into effect for the western portion of the county about at the 2,000 foot elevation mark on a line that follows section lines.

The county, unless changes are made, is legislating its own operation of burn dump sites at Ramona and Valley Center out of business.

Conversion of these small dumps to sanitary fills would be very expensive.

Programs; Teachers Tied to Tuesday Tax Ceiling Election

Registered voters of Lemon Grove will go to the polls Tuesday to vote on whether the maximum tax rate ceiling of $1.99, set six years ago, shall be increased 80 cents for the operation of schools in the Lemon Grove School District.

The amount of local funds now received by the district cannot begin to cover the deficit looming for this coming year's budget. And since schools cannot operate on any basis other than cash, the only means of balancing budgets is to cut and eliminate programs until the outgo matches the income.

Lemon Grove schools face great financial difficulties because State support to help run classes have steadily decreased. Last year, when no new money was voted by the Legislature, the district actually lost income because of new laws that reduced rather than increased money from Sacramento.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE TO VOTE?

All registered voters living within the Lemon Grove School District are eligible. To verify registration, call Files Division, Registrar of Voters at 278-9400.

WHERE TO VOTE

There are seven polling places. They are at Vista La Mesa school, 7101 Pearson st.; San Altos school, 1750 Madera; Palm Junior High, 8425 Palm, San Miguel, 7057 San Miguel, Monterey Heights, 7550 Canton dr., L.G. Junior High, 7866 Lincoln, and L. G. District office, 8025 Lincoln.

WHEN TO VOTE

All polls are open from seven 'til seven. Best time is mid-morning or mid-afternoon to avert the going-to and coming-from work crowd.

Remaining funds cannot begin to maintain the present program because they, too, have been eroded by rising costs, inflation, and new demands upon operations which include increased enrollment.

Desperate in attempts to balance the budget without injuring the education of over 4,000 students in grades kindergarten through eighth grade, the Lemon Grove School Board called the June 17 election. If approved, the new maximum tax ceiling permits the board to levy additional taxes on property. As in past years, the board would levy only that portion of the extra 80 cents per $100 of assessed valuation needed to maintain schools at an efficient but effective level. The total cost of the increase, if and when levied, would amount to approximately 9 cents per day to the average homeowner.

If the election fails, deep slashes in the budget will have to be made before school opens in September. Just what will be reduced or eliminated is a decision board members will face in the weeks ahead. But when the budget's "operation" means removal of over a quarter of a million, it's bound to be serious surgery. The need is for $280,000.

It can be accomplished, however, by removing or reducing a combination of vital services. Each is important to some student; the total affects all school children, now and in their future education.

These include summer school, bus transportation, health services, music (including band and orchestra), special classes for handicapped children, outdoor instruction (including the sixth grade camping program), reading and math specialists, supplies and equipment, and the junior high courses of shop, art, homemaking, and library.

In addition, because of gradual enrollment increases and lack of funds to hire more teachers, classes will be more crowded. This in turn will result in less attention to the individual needs of pupils, a situation leading to less learning during critical elementary years.

One of the worst blows the schools can suffer is loss of competent teachers. Children spend a high per cent of their waking hours directly under the influence of their teachers. Without expert instruction, education can become almost meaningless.

Lemon Grove this year witnessed the resignation of more teachers than ever before in its history. Many frankly indicated they were leaving to accept positions in neighboring district where salaries were more attractive. It is a fact that salaries here cannot compete with those elsewhere in the San Diego area. And all this simply means that most replacements in Lemon Grove will be those who have sought employment in other districts and been unable to measure up to their standards.

Citizens in La Mesa-Spring Valley, Cajon Valley, and the Grossmont Districts voted more local support for their schools this past year when their educational programs faced deterioration.

Mobile Home Fee Raise Studied By County Sups

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — County supervisors on Monday held off setting inspection fees at $3 per space annually for mobile home parks.

Ed Colletion of the Western Mobile Home Owners Association told the supervisors that his group had been shown no evidence that the increase in the state collected fee of 50 cnts is necessary.

Th county's proposed fee would be a minimum of $25 just as for the state but the state charged only 50 cents for each space over 35.

Inspection fees are paid on an annual basis and the county would not start collecting on the new schedule until after the first of the year except for new construction.

Always and Everywhere

Let no one imagine that it is a strained and unnatural thing for one to pray. The contrary is much closer to the fact. It is far more unnatural for one not to pray. Prayer is one of the most natural of human instincts. Prayer is man's response to the divine will.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

A novice in Spanish made great strides in the language as he spoke to a native of Mexico. In the conversation he advised that his present job offered little opportunity. To clarify this, he said, "Yo estoy haciendo muy poco dinero." (I am making very little money.).

His Spanish-speaking associate hesitated, and with a puzzled facial expression asked, "Que clase de billetes hace used?" (What kind of bills do you make?). Quickly the novice realized that "haciendo dinero" (making money) was not the best way to express his idea. The Mexican had interpreted him to mean "making money" literally.

In most Spanish-speaking countries the expression "haciendo" means "making" and is associated with the idea of manufacturing. A more appropriate way to relay the desired idea was found in the expression "ganando dinero" (earning money). He then corrected himself and said "Yo estoy ganando muy poco dinero." (I am earning very littlemoney am earning very little money.)

Today's practice phrases contain examples of "haciendo" and "ganando" as they might be used in an ordinary conversation. The ending letters of these words, "iendo" and "ando", are indicators that tell us that their English equivalents will end in "ing." Special attention should be given to the pronunciation of "haciendo," (ah-see-EHN-doh). You may say these phrases with the recorded voice when you dial 276-2762.

IMPORTANT PHRASES

Say "Que esta haciendo?" (keh eh-S T A H-ah-s e e-EHN-doh) for "What are you making?"
Say "Un coche." (oon KOH-cheh) for "A car.

USEFUL PHRASES

Say "Esta ganando usted mucho dinero?" (eh-STAH gah-NAHN-doh oo-STEHD MOO-choh deeNEH-roh)
for "Are you earning a lot of money?"
Say "Gano muy poco." (GAHN-noh moo-ee POH-koh) for "I earn very little."

OTHER PHRASES

Say "El esta durmiendo." (ehl eh-STAH doohr-mee-EHN-doh)
for "He is sleeping."
Say "Tiene sueno." (tee-EH-neh soo-EHN-yoh) for "He is sleepy."

IRS Questions

Q — I didn't have to file an estimated return in April but you mailed me a reminder notice about the June installment. Do I have to pay anything?

A — If you do not meet the requirements for filing an estimated tax declaration please ignore the notice. Reminder notices for the June 16 installment were sent to all those who were mailed the new estimated tax packages in February based on possible liability for payment.

Briefly, an estimated tax declaration and installment payments may have to be filed if you expect to have a balance due of $40 or more when you file your 1969 Federal income tax return. You can obtain details on filing requirements by sending a post card to your local district office. Ask for a copy of Publication 505, Tax withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax.

Q — I've moved since I mailed my tax return. Will my refund check be sent to my new address?

A — Your refund check will be forwarded if you have left a change of address with the post office at your old address. If you did not, you should notify your IRS Service Center, and give your name, Social Security Number and new address.

Each year, IRS has thousands of refunds it is unable to deliver to taxpayers because they have moved without leaving a forwarding address. In these cases, the refund is credited to the taxpayer's account and reissued as soon as IRS obtains an up-to-date address.

Q — I've heard all your taxes have to be paid before IRS will let you leave the country. Is that right?

A — U. S. citizens are not required to obtain tax clearance when going abroad. However, many aliens are required to obtain a tax clearance before their departure from the U. S. IRS Publication 519, U. S. Tax Guide for Aliens, explains this. Send a postcard to your district office to obtain a free copy.

Q — I teach and plan to go to summer school. Can I deduct the cost of my courses?

A — Generally, educational expenses are deductible if they are expressly requird by your eployer or if they are ncessary to maintain or improve your skills in your present position. No deduction can be taken for courses needed to meet the minimum standards of employment or to obtain a new job.

For additional details send a post card to your district director requesting a free copy of Publication 508, Tax Information on Educational Expenses.

Q — I bought some stock five years ago that has tripled in value. Is it true that if I give the stock to my son I won't have to pay income tax on my profit?

A — Yes, tax law permits you to make a gift of this sort. Note that if the fair market value of the stock plus any other gifts to your son is over $3,000 in any one year you will have to file a Federal gift tax return.

Your son will have to report as income, dividends received on the stock during the time he owns it. Also, if your son sells the stock, his cost basis will be your cost basis plus any gift taxes paid.

Q — We are expecting our first child next month. When can we start taking a withholding exemption for the baby?

A — You can make a change in your withholding anytime after the child is born by filing a new Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Exemption Certificate.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The violent militancy and destruction on our college campuses worries you and it worries us. We all should be seeking ways to solve these problems while preserving the precious liberties that are ours in America. However, we are very concerned that some of you may believe that the best way to solve these problems is to dry up funds for all schools. It is apparent when we talk to you in your homes, churches, or places of business that the education of young children may suffer because of rioting in colleges and universities.

We try to be charitable and understand your blacklash at all students. When you make such statements as, "I won't vote one more cent for schools until the colleges are cleaned up", you are not being fair or objective about schools.

As a group we are appealing to you as fellow citizens of Lemon Grove to examine your consciences. Our children are in school now, and we surely don't want them to receive an inferior education because of the current troubles on college campuses. Our children are entitled to your objective consideration of all the facts leading our Board of School Trustees to call for a school tax election on Tuesday, June 17.

As parents we believe that the election had to be called because of reduced State aid, Federal aid, and inflation, and we know this tax money will be spent only in the schools of Lemon Grove.

In closing this letter, we ask all of you who no longer have small children in the Lemon Grove elementary schools to not turn your backs on the present generation of young children, but to vote in the American tradition of examining all the issues. We "Concerned Parents of Lemon Grove" are proud to live in a community of good schools and we would wish to keep them that way.

Sincerely yours,
Concerned Parents of Lemon Grove
James and Terri Simmons
Billy and Lauri Gann
Mr. and Mrs. D. Stalnaker

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McMahon

My Dear Fellow American:

There seems to be some question over individual rights guaranteed by the constitution in ceremonies regarding the American Flag.

No matter how mute the point, defining symbolization is hardly worthy of court appearance. This issue is moral rather than legal.

The American Flag was never intended to embody the rights and wrongs of our society, but to act as a symbolic chronology of our history.

We would be wrong to deny flying it over a prison and equally hypocritical to determine its raising by our own standards.

It is not saluted because of a point of law, but as an act of courtesy.

Society derives its strength from its ability to cooperate as a whole to establish a better way of life. Just as dissent must be a part of that strength so must respect for a free nation's symbols be a matter of each individuals civic desire to be a strong defender of his nation; its people and its doctrines.

A nation with problems needs solution, not childish publicity by standing in a school yard and refusing to salute a flag. If we cannot learn to be a proper guest in a neighbor's home, then we should have never accepted the invitation to begin with.

A flag does not require attendance at either its raising or lowering. It asks only we acknowledge that by its presence we are aware of both our history and heritage. Under such circumstances, neither the citizen of Russia, England, France or America is being deprived of his birth right.

Any American has the right to disagree with ritual, ceremony or methods of patriotism, but when that person make a public display over his bad manners, then he is in essence questioning the good taste of a grateful government when it drapes its national ensign over the tomb of the unknown soldier.

We will defend his right to take issue, but by the same token we have to question his worth both as a friend, educator and citizen.

Very sincerely yours,
Department of California, V.F.W.
Fidel Martinez
State Patriotic Instructor

Dear Editor:

The word "College" is a big word in on'e life, and for those who go to better themselves I have great respect. College is where one takes the subject of his choice; to receive a degree, and prepare to enter his field.

Most of you are there seeking higher education to better yourselves in life.

Yet there are possible some of you who do not really know what they want. Yet they are looking for an answer, and a lot of times against their better judgment join the crowd, and still unrest. A lot have the ability to lead, but be leaders in an American way. Think what a wonderful Country we have, and our God-given right to attend the college of our choice. Do not be suckers as followers of commuists and trouble makers, but stand on your own two feet and think for yourself.

So much strife and unrest in the world today far too many people are trying to find the answer in themselves. Rather than seeking the Divine Guidance of our Heavenly Father, who is the same yesterday, today, and forever.

Most problems that people have, they create themselves. Pulling the police off campus is like pulling the troops out of Viet Nam. Then THEY would take the place over. The situation is somewhat the same. The police are not there by choice. They will leave anytime. When — thats up to you. When you prove you are there to learn and gain knowledge of the subject you choose, and respect the rights of others, and be as young men and women should, then they will leave.

The thing that will ever straighten out any situation, is for each, regardless of race or color, to take inventory of things in his life that could be set aside by self-inspection. By doing so it will give each of us a little time to think, how he or she shapes up in the eyes of God.

I had much rather be recognized by God, than to have been seen by men.

Sincerely,
John W. Coyle

Pet Skunks Are Illegal

Best Advice On Skunks? Leave Them In The Wilds

The San Diego County Department of Public Health warned that pet skunks are illegal.

Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health, advised persons who come across baby skunks in the wild to leave them alone and not attempt to capture them.

"This is the time of year when skunks have their families," he said. "Campers and hikers are apt to see baby skunks. The are cute animals that may prove tempting as pets, but skunks are dangerous. They may be rabid," he said.

Dr. Askew pointed out that a total of 291 skunks from 27 California counties were reported rabid during 1968. He said the 291 cases of skunk rabies were the largest number ever reported in California in a single year.

In San Diego County, a laboratory confirmed case of skunk rabies was reported in 1968, and four cases were reported in both 1967 and 1966.

"Young skunks infected with rabies may not develop symptoms of this fatal disease for several months after they have been captured and taken home as pets," Dr. Askew said. "The rabies incubation period in young skunks exposed to the disease in their natural surroundings can be as long as 177 days. The average incubation period is from two to six weeks," he said.

Because skunks can be rabid and humans have been bitten by them, state law prohibits the trapping or capture of skunks as pets; the trapping or holding of skunks in captivity for sale, barter, exchange or gift; and the transportation of skunks from or into rabies quarantine areas.

San Diego County is still under rabies quarantine.

Both Honor Students At Miguel

Misses McFall, Repard Named Valedictorian, Salutatorian

Shirley McFall and Nila Repard have been selected valedictorian and salutatorian of Mt. Miguel high school's 1969 graduating class.

Miss McFall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Veriel McFall of 8017 Roy st., Lemon Grove, maintains a 3.89 grade average. The 17-year-old valedictorian plans to attend the University of California at Riverside upon graduation.

She intends to major in Germany and hopes for a teaching career when her education is over. Miss McFall has been awarded Honors at Entrance at Riverside.

"I'm petrified!" she said when asked about giving a speech at the graduation ceremonies. "I feel that a person who is a good extemporaneous speaker should address the class."

Included in Shirley's activities during her four years at Mt. Miguel are German Club, "I" Club, Cape Corps, and Mu Alpha Theta.

Miss Nila Repard, who is nearing her 18th birhtday, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manford Repard of 2041 Eldora, Lemon Grove. She has a 3.85 grade average, and has received a Redlands and a California State Scholarship.

She will attend the University of Redlands in the fall. The salutatorian's major will be education; she is presently considering a career in counseling.

While at Miguel, Miss Repard has received numerous honors: the El Cajon Elks Club awarded her $25; she was named best actress at Miguel in 1967; she has gathered speech trophies for debate and oratory, for being Outstanding Teenager of America, and as Bank of America plaque winner for Liberal Arts.

Nila's activities at Miguel included being Commissioner of Communication, 1968-'69 Press Bureau editor, CSF, ICC President, Girls' State representative, speech and drama.

Mather once operated the L.G. Department store when it was in existence. Lions meet on Thursday evenings at the VFW Hall in Lemon Grove.

Public Utilities Commission Seeks Statewide Undergrounding Of All Utility Lines In New Construction

State Public Utilities Commissioner A. W. Gatov and PUC Examiner John R. Gillanders issued on May 28 a proposed second order which would establish undergrounding as the new statewide standard for the extension of utility lines in all new construction.

The recommended order, prepared after an extensive investigation instituted by the PUC in June 1965, was sent to all utilities and other participants in the hearing.

Final decision will be made by the full commission after reactions from the utilities and all other participating parties are received.

Viewing as its ultimate objective the disappearance of the utility pole from the California scene, the proposed decision is.. another step in developing the policy established by the PUC in its first precendent-setting order issued Sept. 19, 1967.

At that time a policy was enunciated encouraging the undergrounding of utility lines and resolved the matters of service connections and conversions. The California PUC recently gained national recognition for this far-reaching decision when it received Holiday magazine's "Award For a Beautiful America."

The new proposed order deals with extensions of utility distribution lines to all new construction — residential, commercial and industrial. It does not affect transmission lines or the steel towers supporting them. The proposed order states that "all extensions should be underground" and "the process of converting overhead to underground should be encouraged."

The report comes after months of evaluation of new testimony on a proposal made by Pacific Gas and Electric Company. The rule proposed by PG&E would be applicable to underground electrical distribution systems in new residential subdivisions. It was referred to as "URD" (underground residential distribution).

Under the proposed rule, the developer of a subdivision would perform all necessary trenching and backfilling and furnish, install and deed to the utility any ducts that are required. The utility would complete the installation of the URD extension within the subdivision boundaries and also complete up to 200 feet of underground line outside the subdivision boundaries to connect the extension to the utility's existing or planned supply facilities.

Six days of hearings on the matter began in March 1968 and subsequent briefs and data were filed with the commission until June 18, 1968.

The proposed decision, which will ultimately be accepted, rejected, or modified by the five-member commission, declares that the rules and standards for undergrounding should be "statewide in scope" and adds that "the additional cost of these installations should be absorbed by the utilities."

It further propounds that "an underground rule should not be specific as to materials and methods of construction" citing testimony that the utilities" when given sufficient incentive can be and usually are extremely innovative. With undergrounding being the standard method of construction of distribution circuits with the utility paying the costs there is no doubt that great strides will be made in the science of serving electricity by means of underground distribution."

The proposed decision reasons that it should "place no obstacles in the path of underground distribution by pronouncements regarding materials and methods to be used other than that regarding the use of subsurface transformers and direct burial cables."

The proposed order also declares that any relocation of overhead utility lines should be treated as new extensions and be undergrounded.

"There is abundant evidence in this proceeding," the proposed decision states, "that Californians are gravely concerned with the loss of environmental quality and that considerable of this apprehension is centered on the proliferation of overhead utility systems. The problem is of statewide interest and the solution should therefore be statewide."

In discussing the apportionment of additional cost of undergrounding these facilities, the report concludes "that the utilities could absorb these costs with little or no demonstrable effect on their earnings."

It indicates "the utilities in California have formed a joint trench committee and are assiduously developing improved methods of employing such trenches to the joint benefit of the users. With such an enlightened approach and with the cooperation of the industrial genius not only of this country but of that from abroad, there is every reason to believe that the utilities themselves ar far more capable of breaking the cost barrier of trenching and backfilling than would an amorphous group of builders."

Based on the evidence and testimony presented, the report also concludes: "The utilities should pay for all trenching, backfilling, and substructure work involved on public streets, highways, easements and right-of-ways."

The proposed order uses stronger language when it discusses relocations of existing overhead lines.

Chicken (Fried) Thief Hits Jamul School

Hungry prowlers entered the Jamul-Las Flores school Thursday night and made off with 60 pounds of frying chicken, 80 pounds of hamburger and 20 pounds of weiners. They also took frying pans and lard.

Eldon M. Meyer, of Lemon Grove, who is district superintendent, said that footprints made by both a male and a female were found.

A blackboard note to teacher read "Dear Teacher: I don't know any other way. I wish it didn't have to be like this. Teach your students not to steal."

Loss was estimated at $750 by Meyer.

Monte Vista Sports Roundup

By SCOTT McGAUGH

All-league selections in both baseball and golf were announced last week as the Monarchs placed two men on each of the first teams.

In golf, Steve Hamrick and Bob Compere (both seniors) were on the first team.

Juniors Rob Vint and George Avgerenos were on the second team as well. Bob Hurt, a senior, was on the honorable mention list as well.

The Monarch duffers completed the best season in the school's history as they took their first league championship with a 13-0-1 mark.

In baseball, Monarchs Mike Nush and Roger Sommers appeard on the first team with Nush as a catcher and Sommers as a utility man.

Doug Miller, the Monarch's slugger, was chosen for the second team in the outfield.

Appearing on the honorable mention list were pitchers Jesse Bower and Paul Loop for Monte Vista.

Four records were broken and two others tied this year as the Monarch finished their season with a 7-7 record, good four fourth place in the final standings.

Roger Sommers hit .397, good for second place, and broke two records in doing it. Sommers collected 30 base hits including six doubles, both records for Monte Vista.

Doug Miller not only led the league in homers with five, but broke a school record as well. Miller also drove in 15 runs which tied another school record.

Both Paul Loop and Jesse Bower, Monte Vista's two main hurlers got their names into the record books as well

Loop tied to a school record by throwing two shutouts while Bowers record the lowest ERA in the school's history, 1.13.

With the pitchers returning next year and the hitters graduating this year, if some offensive power can be found by Coach Marv Lacey, then next year could be "the year of the Monarch" on the baseball diamond for Monte Vista.

Two big nights of racing action will get underway at Cajon Speedway again this week with modified sportsmen and Figure 8 cars on Friday night.

Saturday night will return the popular super and limited stocks to the 3/8 mile paved oval. Qualifying is set for 6:30 p.m. and first race goes off at 8.

More than 135 cars will take part in the week-end action with four divisions represented in the two nights. Modified sportsmen are hand made for racing and the fastest cars on the local track. The record 17.24 seconds for the 3/8 mile puts them well over 100 M.P.H. down the straights.

The Figure 8 cars are oldies but goodies and hold a thrill a minute with the intersection in the center of the Figure 8 race course. The idea is to keep from crashing. A few are successful.

Both of these divisions will be on hand Friday night in a dual program. Modifies will race on the oval with a trophy dash, two heats and a 30 lap main event.

Figure 8 cars will go with two heats, a dash and a 20 lap main with 20 cars taking the 8 course.

Saturday night will present both super and limited stock cars sporting a super trophy dash, four heats, a 15 lap semi and a 30 lap main event.

The limited will race a dash, two heats and a 15 lap main event.

Top racing names on both nights with main event winners Bobby Hogle, Buena Park and Dick Fries in the modifies. Two time winner Mike Heuslei, La Posta in the Figure 8's.

Four big winners in the super stocks with three time winner Carl Adams, Lemon Grove; Jim Whitt, Bill Butts, El Cajon; and Danny Brent of Santee in the Saturday night program.

He was also named "outstanding pitcher of the year" by his teammates. Harkins, a left handed pitcher, posted the club's lowest earned run average of 1.67. He won 5 and lost 4 for the Cougars. Nelson said the Cougars should have a fine season next year with Harkins scheduled to return. Harkins was graduated from Mt. Miguel High school.

TB-Health Association Story Says Drug Fadists Live To Regret Lives Of 'Discoveries' And Experience

Secret Of Life Under 'Laughing Gas' Revealed As 'Stink Of Turpentine'

"The more it changes," according to the Gallic proverb "the more it remains the same." Those who still defend the use of "psychedelic" drugs tend to believe that they are tradition-breakers, pioneer fighters for human rights, and all that sort of thing.

History tells a different story, deftly summarized in a magazine article by Dr. Sidney Cohen, an outstanding expert on "mind-affecting" drugs.

It's an old, repetitive story Dr. Cohen reports. Drug fads have characterized many periods of history. And each time the practice has had its defenders — often notable ones — who eventually changed their minds.

Thomas DeQuincey, the "Confessions" author, praised opium for providing "peace of mind" and "[illegible] ecstasy." In his day nobody frowned on it. Not only DeQuincey, but other eminent scribes including Poe, Coleridge and Swinburne partook liberally and lived to regret it.

Then there was cocaine, hailed by a young physician named Sigmund Freud for its "liberating" effects. For years this powerful narcotic was used in discriminately in this country, until its nonmedical use was banned in 1904.

Nitrous oxide "laughing gas," was admired by its discoverer, Sir Humphrey Davy, as a path to profound insights. Once, while under its influence, he wrose some words which he thought were "the secret of life." Recovering, he found that he had written, "The stink of turpentine prevades all."

Each of these psychedelic boosters has been banned — yet today nobody shouts for the Constitutional right to clobber himself with opium, cocaine, or laughing gas. No crystal ball is needed to envision the long-range future of LSD.

Rocket Tryouts Start Next Week

"This is going to be the most interesting rookie camp we've had," said coach Jack McMahon as he makes his plans for the San Diego Rocket tryouts June 16 to 26 at Cal Western University.

"Last year we had a great rookie crop," McMahon said, "and I had personally spent the closing weeks of the season looking at our prospective draft choices.

"This year, with Pete (Newell, general manager) handling the scouting to give me full time with the club in the playoff stretch run, I didn't have a chance to see much of the rookies.

"Basically, this crop will be a mystery to me except for what I've seen on film and heard from our scouts," McMahon said.

California Expo To Show Huge Aerospace Exhibit

Space Fair Portrays Down To Earth Benefits Of Space Technology

SACRAMENTO — The most extensive aerospace exhibit ever presented in the United States, one which will fill four buildings, is scheduled as part of the State Fair at the California Exposition this year.

The Fair opens at 5 p.m. August 22 and runs through September 9. The space pageant will run throughout the Fair season and three days beyond, closing September 12 to accomomdate youngsters returning to school from summer vacation. Special tours for busloads of the school-agers are being planned.

The Fair and space exhibit couldn't be more timely with the Apollo 11 moonshot billed for July.

The spectacular space show will cover some 75,000 square feet in the eight-building Exposition Center. Featured is a $250,000 NASA exhibit shown for the first time and a "Moon Environment Program" exhibit by Grumman Aircraft Co. which will have its premiere here. The latter will allow the visitor a simulated visit to the "moon surface."

The program, Aerospace Fair, will tell a visual story of how the U. S. is utilizing much of the aerospace technology in the home, office and in the field of recreation.

And it will be free to all who pay the $1 general admission to the State Fair ($.50 for youngsters through 16; children 6 and under admitted free).

Children are generally attracted to anything that resembles candy in bottles or cans. Aspirins and sleeping pills should be kept well out of the reach of children. Aspirin has become a prime poisoner of children.

KEEP THEM ON THE RIGHT TRACK

...especially now, when their education is so important!

VOTE YES

LEMON GROVE STUDENTS NEED YOUR SUPPORT... AT THE POLLS ON TUESDAY, JUNE 17

The issue at stake in this election is whether the voters wish to maintain good elementary schools for children of this community. The decision rests with those who will cast ballots next Tuesday.

Despite all efforts to economize and still provide adequate education for its students, the Lemon Grove School District faces a budget deficit of nearly one quarter of a million dollars this fall unless more local funds become available! The steady decrease in amounts of money from the State, rising prices, inflation, and possible loss of Federal funds, plus an increase in enrollment, all have contributed to this financial crisis.

The present tax ceiling of $1.99 was set by the voters back in 1963, six years ago. It cannot begin to meet 1969-1970 needs. The ballot proposal to be voted upon Tuesday would increase the maximum ceiling by 80¢ to $2.79, so that the tax rate could be raised, but only to that amount, if and when necessary. As in the past, the school board would levy only that portion of the tax needed for the operation of the community's eight schools.

If additional money is not made available locally, at least $280,000 must be cut from the budget for next year, beginning in September. This would spell disaster for the present program! Effects of the slashed program could alter the total education of over 4000 pupils.

For example, many or all of these services would disappear: summer school, bus transportation, special classes, reading and math specialists, outdoor education, health services, junior high classes in music, art, shop, homemaking, and science labs, and modern supplies and equipment so needed in today's instruction.

In addition, the most important service upon which good schools depend, competent teachers, would be greatly reduced. Already many fine teachers have resigned to accept positions in better financed districts. Unless Lemon Grove can compete with neighboring districts, this community will continue to lose teachers and will be unable to attract new ones.

If this election fails to receive a majority of YES votes, Lemon Grove students will face crowded classrooms, a reduced teaching staff, loss of vital services, and a watered-down program. All this at a time when education is more important to their futures than ever before!

Other districts, faced earlier this year with similar financial problems, made sure their children did not suffer. Citizens in Cajon Valley and La Mesa-Spring Valley, plus our Grossmont District, voted to raise maximum tax ceilings to guarantee students a good education.

Surely the residents of Lemon Grove will vote to spend up to 9¢ a day more in the best interests of our own elementary students as well as in the interest of building an even better community. It's a small price to pay for such great rewards.
